Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 31 July 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

CLAIMS

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Holland (US 5020103).

Regarding claim 1, Holland shows:

A plurality of modular components (see fig. 2) configured to be secured to one another in a vertical arrangement, one of the components comprising a communication device mounting member (i.e. 15) configured for supporting a communication device (20), the components (in fig. 2) are configured such that they may be assembled in a plurality of vertical arrangement (figs. 3a-3d).

3. Claims 10, 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bartley et al. (US 3752927).

Regarding claim 10, Bartley shows:

Art Unit: 2642

A tubular communication device mounting member (10) configured for supporting a communication device (20), and a plurality of modular components (see fig. 2) secured to the tubular member (10) in a vertical, end to end arrangement (see 50, 60, 10).

Regarding claim 19, Bartley shows:

A hollow tube (10) having at least one recessed end wall (for 60) configured for securing a plurality of modular components (60, 50).

4. Claims 1-6, 10-15, 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Scolari (US 4489306).

Regarding claim 1, Scolari shows:

A plurality of modular components (see fig. 1) configured to be secured to one another in a vertical arrangement, one of the components comprising a communication device mounting member (i.e. 10) configured for supporting a communication device (22), the components (in fig. 1) are configured such that they may be assembled in a plurality of vertical arrangement (figs. 1-2).

Regarding claim 10, Scolari shows:

A tubular communication device mounting member (10) configured for supporting a communication device (12), and a plurality of modular components (see fig. 1, 14, 16 etc.) secured to the tubular member (10) in a vertical, end to end arrangement.

Regarding claim 19, Scolari shows:

A hollow tube (10) having at least one recessed end wall configured for securing a plurality of modular components (i.e. 16).

Regarding claims 2-6, 8-9, 11-15, 17-18 , 20, Scolari shows:

At least one component chosen from the group consisting of an extension sleeve and a light assembly (see 16);

A strobe light assembly (fig. 6);

An end cap (14);

A base member (66);

A mounting bracket (see 74 in fig. 10);

The end walls which is recessed (see 42, 44); and Fasteners (46).

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 7 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scolari in view of Bartley et al. (US 3752927).

Regarding claims 7 and 16, Scolari shows the components.

Scolari differs from the claimed invention in that it does not show a gasket.

Art Unit: 2642

However, Bartley teaches providing a gasket (60) between components.

Hence, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Scolari with a gasket as taught by Bartley, such that to provide a good seal between components (col. 2, lines 61-63 in Bartley).

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Jack Chiang whose telephone number is 571-272-7483. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon.-Fri. from 8:00 to 6:30.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Ahmad Matar, can be reached on 571-272-7488. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
